Camber Development and Dacon commence fully electrical industrial facility in Wilmington

WILMINGTON — Camber Development and Dacon Corporation celebrated the commencement of a 238,000 SF industrial warehouse and distribution facility at 800 Salem St. in Wilmington. Conveniently located less than one mile from I-93, this precast panel, flexible warehouse and distribution space has 36 FT clear heights, the capacity for 47 loading docks, 32 EV charging stations, and a solar ready roof.

The property is one of the first fully electric industrial buildings to be built in Massachusetts. Located 20 minutes from Boston, it has easy access to I-93, Route 128 and the Boston metro population, as well as easy access to I-495 to the north. The project is being developed by Camber Development, a Boston-based real estate investor and developer of innovative industrial properties. Camber is a forward-thinking developer that leverages strong local relationships and a deep understanding of market dynamics to create a positive impact on the community through their projects. To mark the commencement, Camber Development and Dacon are funding the first year of Build-a-Bureau, a pilot program between Mission of Deeds and Northeast Metro Tech. Mission of Deeds is a turnaround organization where sheltered families being placed in apartments can shop for up-

One furniture donation that is limited is bureaus, as most are too large to carry up stairwells. Children are left to store clothes in trash bags, one of the dehumanizing aspects of furniture poverty. To answer this need Howard Sepowitz, a former maxillofacial surgeon and now a Mission of Deeds' volunteer, conceptualized Build-a-Bureau, in which Northeast Metro Tech carpentry students design and build three-drawer bureaus that act as end tables and provide storage.

Northeast Metro Tech is a spirited school of 1,250 students from 12 communities north of Boston that are educated in 17 career areas. The hallmark of their students is self-discipline, maturity, confidence, and inquisitive minds. The school receives over 1,500 applications yearly, of which 360 are selected based on performance. With students spending 72 hours per month in practicum along with 72 hours in regular academics, they must pass the MCATS in 50% less time than regular high schoolers.

Additionally, they are in cycled furniture, kitchenware, new beds and linens for free. Additionally, every client is given a new coat and children receive security blankets, stuffed animals and books — everything to start a new life. Central to their successful model is that clients get to choose what they want. Clients are referred through state agencies. In 2023, 45% of Mission of Deeds' clients were children, totaling 945. Domestic violence was a common cause. This year they will aid 900 families, and since its 1993 inception has furnished 16,748 homes.

BEWARE OF A NEW SCAM:

— PART II —

The Internal Revenue Service has warned taxpayers to be on the lookout for a new scam mailing that tries to mislead people into believing they are owed a refund.

The letter tells the recipients they need to provide "Filing Information" for their refund. This includes some awkwardly worded requests like this:

"A Clear Phone of Your Driver's License That Clearly Displays All Four (4) Angles, Taken in a Place with Good Lighting."

The letter proceeds to ask for more sensitive information including cell phone number, bank routing information, Social Security number and bank account type, followed by a poorly worded warning:

"(You'll Need to Get This to Get Your Refunds After Filing. These Must Be Given to a Filing Agent Who Will Help You Submit Your Unclaimed Property Claim. Once You Send All The Information Please Try to Be Checking Your Email for Response From The Agents Thanks)"

This letter contains a variety of warning signs, including odd punctuation and a mixture of fonts as well as inaccuracies.

Taxpayers and tax professionals should be alert to fake communications posing as legitimate organizations in the tax and financial community, including the IRS and states. These messages can arrive in the form of an unsolicited text or email to lure unsuspecting victims to provide valuable personal and financial information that can lead to identity theft, including phishing and smishing.

Baseball opener —
Wilmington downs
Winchester 1-0!

It might not feel like spring, but the boys of summer are back on the field. The Wildcats played a near perfect opening game to score a 1-0 win over a powerful Winchester squad. Junior Ayden Balter went five strong innings and showed why he's one of the best pitchers in the state, K-ing 10 batters. In his first varsity pitching performance, senior Noah Spencer slammed the door shut, throwing two scoreless innings in relief for the save. In his first varsity game, senior catcher Jacob Doherty was phenomenal catching and calling the shutout behind the plate. The Wildcats got superb defense all around, with big plays from Michael Dyan, Eric Spinney, Connor Lovell and Brian Banks. Senior captain Austin Harper drove in the first run of the season and the games only run.

Shawsheen Tech students secure 66 medals in SkillsUSA competition

BILLERICA — Shawsheen Valley Regional Vocational Technical School District proudly celebrates the remarkable accomplishments of its students in the recent SkillsUSA District 4 competition, held on March 14, 2024.

The competition featured students from eight prominent vocational schools in the region, including Essex Tech, Nashoba Tech, and Greater Lawrence Tech, among others. With a comprehensive array of 86 occupational and leadership skill competitions, Shawsheen proudly sent a contingent of 176 students to showcase their talents and skills.

SkillsUSA Championships, a series of local (district), state, and national competitions, aim to recognize student excellence in career and technical education.

Each skill area in the District SkillsUSA competition consists of three components: a comprehensive technical exam (70% of the final score), an employability skills/professional development exam (20%), and an OSHA exam (10%), culminating the students' final score and rank.

During a school assembly on March 25, Karen Meister, Assistant Chapter Advisor of the Shawsheen SkillsUSA chapter, commended the dedication and hard work of the student competitors, highlighting their significant strides toward their career aspirations. Meister proudly announced that 66 Shawsheen students secured medals in the competition, including 21 gold, 27 silver, and 18 bronze medalists, with 56 of them qualifying to advance to the SkillsUSA State Competition scheduled for April.

Shawsheen students excelled across a diverse range of occupational and leadership skill areas, with victories in 30 out of the 86 categories. Noteworthy skill areas include architectural drafting, industrial motor control, culinary arts, dental assisting, and more, reflecting the school's commitment to providing training aligned with industry needs.

"The philosophy of [SkillsUSA] Championships is to reward students for excellence, to involve industry in directly evaluating student performance and to keep training relevant to employers' needs," as stated on the national SkillsUSA webpage.

Shawsheen Valley Technical School is delighted with this year's results and extends congratulations to the following SkillsUSA District Medalists:

BATON ROUGE, LA — Denis Campbell of Tewksbury, was recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective all-discipline collegiate honor society. Campbell was initiated at Salem State University.

Campbell is among approximately 25,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the So-cietiy has chapters on more than 325 campuses in the United States, its territories and the Philippines.

Its mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others."

Risman Insurance Agencies renews Five Star Agency Designation

The Massachusetts Association of Insurance Agents (MAIA), is proud to announce that the Risman Insurance Agencies of Tewksbury, Dracut, Melrose, Danvers, Medford, Burlington, and Dorchester, has renewed their Five Star Agency Designation. They were among the first few agencies to earn the Five Star Designation in 2000 and continue to demonstrate excellence in the five imperatives associated with the designation: Customer Focus, Management/Leadership, Human Resources, Product & Process and Future Success Initiatives.

It is a very select group that has attained this designation; only 25 out of more than 1,500 agencies in Massachusetts hold it.

"The Risman Insurance Agencies, one of the largest, family-owned independent agencies in Massachusetts, has gone through a number of changes over the past few years, and they have all been very positive steps in making the agency stronger than ever. A talented and effective staff is in place, including a leadership team that has strengthened the agency's focus on outstanding customer service. The agency performed remarkably throughout the pandemic, acquiring another five agencies during that time. The Risman Agencies team has a unique emphasis on adopting and implementing new technology and has done so very successfully," said Heather Kramer, COO and Vice President of MAIA. "These items, coupled with many of the strengths that were seen in the past, confirm that the Risman Insurance Agencies has maintained their Five Star Agency Designation."

Henry Risman, President of the Risman Insurance Agencies, said, "We have worked very hard to continue to function as one agency as we have grown. We use technology to help build a one-team environment across all of our offices because we recognize we are better together. The renewal of our Five Star Designation is due to the efforts of every member of our team. We hire the best employees, expect a lot of from them, and they do a great job. Our leaders are accessible, knowledgeable, and, most importantly, thankful for the hard work and dedication of our team. We know that providing our clients with advice and products they can trust and rely on is important and I think we do it extremely well."

MAIA awards the Five Star Agency Designation to independent agencies that go through a rigorous review based on key criteria that affect an insurance agency and how it operates. Upon earning a qualifying score, an agency becomes a Five Star Agency Designee and must go through an intensive review process every three years to prove that they continue to provide superior service, knowledge and value.

Book Stew Review

'Cocktails with George and Martha: Movies, Marriage and the Making of Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?' by Philip Gefter

By EILEEN MACDOUGALL

With such abundant material — the play, the movie, the playwright, the director (first film ever, second was The Graduate), and the stars — there's no guarantee that a thorough examination of a 1962 play and a 1966 movie, each with a debut over 60 years ago, would still be of interest.

I urge anyone who loves theatre and film to grab this one! It's so dynamic — Edward Albee's miserable life as a neglected adoptee; director Mike Nichols, insecure despite his brilliance as a comedy partner with Elaine May; and especially to Ernest Lehman, the film producer whose strong hand and daily journaling provide the critical details.

And then there are Elizabeth and Richard, a/k/a Martha and George — she, tagged as the beauty with no particular talents; he, obsessed with childhood acne scars and his rivalries with Gielgud, Richardson, Olivier — in their third movie since exploding their marriages and their bold decision to risk their reputations — everyone's reputations.

The reader cannot help but cheer for the film's towering success.

Quote: "While theatre relies on the voice, the screen relies on the face. On the screen, film magnifies a face as if it were an entire stage; the infinitesimal adjustments in a facial expression can have the same narrative impact as a character's soliloquy in a play."

OBITUARIES

Harry N. Atamian Served in the United States Navy

Harry N. Atamian, age 93, a long-time resident of Wilmington, passed away peacefully on April 3, 2024.

Harry was born in Somerville, on Sept. 14, 1930; he was the cherished son of the late Helen M. (Bodemer) Atamian and Harry A. Atamian. Harry was raised and educated in Billerica for several years before moving to Cambridge, where he graduated from Cambridge Ringe and Latin High School with the Class of 1947.

Harry enlisted in the United States Navy in August of 1948, after serving the country, he was honorably discharged on Aug. 8, 1952, and returned home to his family.

Harry went on to continue his education at Northeastern University, where he earned his associate degree in Mechanical Design. Harry took a position as a mechanical designer where he worked for many years at AVCO Defense Systems (Textron) in Wilmington, Everett and Haverhill.

Harry married the "love of his life" Charlotte Johnson on Aug. 23, 1958; the couple moved to Wilmington in 1959 where they raised three wonderful children. Harry was a very devoted husband and father; and was always there to support and encourage his family to do their best.

Harry and Charlotte loved to travel; some of their more memorable trips were to Hawaii and Scotland, where they had a fantastic time (and Harry sampled many fine single-malt scotches!).

Upon moving to Wilmington, Harry and Charlotte became active members of the Wilmington Congregational Church, where the family sang in the church choir and Harry served as a Deacon for many years.

In later years, Harry and Charlotte became parishioners of the Union Congregational Church in North Reading, where Harry was instrumental in forming a bell choir. They enjoyed attending services, helping with church fundraisers, and socializing with friends.

Harry was also an active Mason in Friendship Lodge in Wilmington and served as Master twice, once in 1975, and again in 1979. Harry served as Lodge Ritualist for many years.

Harry was also a Shriner with the Aleppo Temple in Wilmington. For years, he enjoyed driving children and their families to the Shriner's Hospitals in Boston and out to Springfield for various appointments. He finished his duties with the Shrine as a Major in the Provost Guard.

Even in his retirement, Harry could not sit still; he was often out and about in Wilmington and surrounding towns delivering flowers for Designs By Don Florist in Wilmington. Harry loved going to people's houses and bringing joy with flowers and gift baskets.

Harry was the beloved husband of the late Charlotte Atamian, devoted father of Gary Atamian

David S. 'Clyde' 'Mousey' Elliott Worked for the Town of Wilmington

David S. Elliott, fondly known as "Clyde" or "Mousey," age 59, of Londonderry, NH, passed away suddenly on April 4, 2024.

David was born on Sept. 1, 1964, in Lowell; he was the son of Nancy L. (Cutter) Elliott and the late Richard D. "Dick" Elliott. David was raised in Wilmington and attended Wilmington Schools.

David married his "Honney," Donna J. (Robson) Elliott, in 1995 after 14 years of dating. They settled in Londonderry, where they raised their two sons, Dave, and Ray. David was so proud of his family; his wife and boys were most important to him.

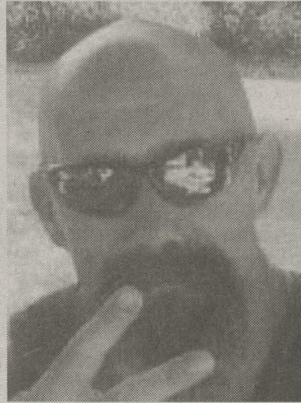

He spent a lot of time participating in hobbies with his boys including four-wheeling and snowmobiling. David and Donna's house was always open to their boys' friends; they welcomed everyone and became second parents to many.

David went to work for the Town of Wilmington over 36 years ago. He started as a custodian working in many schools including the North Intermediate and the Boutwell.

David had a fun-loving personality, and the kids were drawn to him. He loved to make the kids laugh and enjoyed playing his occasional pranks.

Although David was a jokester, he was also a very hard worker. He was promoted to Foreman of Public Buildings several years ago. David was a dependable supervisor and really cared about his employees.

David loved being outdoors; he spent a lot of time in his yard with his animals, including a bull, a pig, chickens, ducks, and his Dobermans. He loved riding his Harley and looked forward to the good weather when he could ride — always taking along his bell.

David enjoyed playing hockey; he played in his younger years and then took pride in watching his sons play. David also refereed many games and had an offer to professionally referee several years ago.

David will be remembered as a "rock solid" type of guy; he was dependable and kind to everyone he met. David took pride in being able to help others, including family and friends. He didn't judge anyone, he just offered advice and listened. He was a great confidant and someone who could be trusted.

David was "larger than life"; he lit up a room with his crazy, happy, loud personality. If you knew David, you could hear him before you saw him! David had some famous sayings which he proudly announced with a smile across his face... "What's up Dude?" and "Peace Out Bro!"

David was the beloved husband of Donna J. (Robson) Elliott, devoted father of David R. Elliott and Raymond D. Elliott all of Londonderry, NH, cherished son of Nancy (Cutter) Elliott and the late Richard Elliott of Wilmington, dear brother of

Alexander earns honors at National Christian College Forensics Association

GROVE CITY, PA — The Grove City College Debate Team left campus last week for Nashville to compete in the National Christian College Forensics Association (NCCFA) Invitational and returned from the tournament four days later with three national championship titles in tow.

10 College debaters participated in the competition, with three students claiming titles and the team winning the Quality Award, which is given to the team whose entire squad had the best winning percentage across their varied entries. It is the team's second NCCFA Quality Award in the last three years. The team also took second place in the Division II Sweepstakes.

"I am particularly proud of this performance because we had been experiencing an up-and-down season by our standards, so we adjusted our preparation and strategy heading into nationals and it paid off in a huge way," said head coach and Professor of History Dr. Jason Edwards.

Grove City College sophomores Braeden Farley and Joshua Xu dominated in the National Parliamentary Debate Association (NPDA) division and won the national title. Xu claimed the national NPDA title at last year's PKD National Championship. Grove City College also comprised three of the four teams in the NPDA semifinals, closing out the final round with sophomores Collin Alexander and Calvin Boss claiming second place and the husband and wife team of juniors Benjamin and Priya Anastasi taking third.

Debate team co-captain Benjamin Anastasi took first place as Parliamentary Debate speaker, adding another title to the team's credit. Farley placed second and Alexander won the fifth-place award in Parliamentary Debate.

Grove City College also performed very well in the International Public Debate Association (IPDA) debate format. Junior Lauren Travieso continued her strong semester, advancing to the semifinals in Varsity IPDA and taking home the fourth place IPDA Speaker Award. Freshman Stuart Hochstetler also continued to impress advancing out of the largest pool of competitors to the quarterfinals in Novice IPDA.

"I am proud of the entire team; they hit the ground running on Thursday and built on our success from our last time at the NCCFI. Everyone did well and pulled their weight in earning the Quality Award," team co-captain Justus Carnley said. "I was truly impressed, but also not surprised at all by the performance of all our members," Benjamin Anastasi added.

Other schools participating in the tournament included: Cedarville University, Concordia University - Irvine, Liberty University, Northwest Nazarene, Schreiner University, University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, Whitworth University, William Carey University, Belmont University, Bethany Lutheran, California Baptist University, Colorado Christian University, Dordt College, Grand Canyon University, and Howard Payne University.

The team heads next to the National Educational Debate Association to him by sending a team of Keolis runners to this year's Boston Marathon. We're honored to be contributing to such a great cause in the American Heart Association as part of our efforts."

National Tournament in April in Detroit, Mich.

Team Keolis has trained together to take on the 2024 Boston Marathon. Their 26.2-mile journey will serve as a tribute to the vibrant spirit of former Keolis International CEO, Bernard Tabary, who passed away last spring. Bernard was not just a leader but an avid runner with a deep passion for marathons, including Boston. Team Keolis will be raising money for cardiac research in Bernard's memory.

"We deeply appreciate the dedication of the employees at Keolis Commuter Services who are running the Boston Marathon and stand with them in paying tribute to the memory of their International CEO Bernard Tabary," said Karen A. Whitefield, Executive Director of the American Heart Association. "Thanks to their support, we can continue our work to ensure all people are able to enjoy longer, healthier lives in Greater Boston and beyond. Donations to the American Heart Association help us fund life-saving research, advocate for healthier communities, improve patient care and work for equitable health for all people."

Keolis Commuter Services is celebrating its 10th year of operating and maintaining the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority's commuter rail system, the fifth largest commuter rail operation in North America.

Keolis is a subsidiary of Keolis North America (KNA), both headquartered in Boston, and employs approximately 2,400 people throughout the region. Keolis and KNA are part of Keolis Group, an innovative global leader in transit services with more than a century of passenger transportation experience and operations in 13 countries.

high demand for community carpentry assignments with historical societies, museums, and senior centers. Currently a $300M facility is being built to expand the program to 1,800 students. Twenty percent of the popular carpentry class is female, who aspired for beauty careers and through Exploratory Session are now pursuing building.

For the children, these bureaus give them something to call their own, and for many this is their first new piece of furniture. This is not simply an educational exercise — the carpentry students are solving a societal need by instilling permanency for children whose lives have been in transition. Meanwhile, they are learning technical skills, awareness, responsibility, compassion, and character. The students are building 40 bureaus and the success of this program will determine if other vocational schools follow suit. Demand remains high — over 7,500 families are enrolled in the Commonwealth's shelter system, with an average stay of 15 months.

To accompany these resilient children on their way to a better life, Camber and Dacon also donated 150 lions from the Jimmy Fallon book series This Is Baby with help from Kohl's department stores. Stuffed animals play an important role in comforting traumatized children as they provide physical comfort and camaraderie. Additionally, Dacon's Alison Kidder designed a logo for Build-a-Bureau.

David Wilkinson, Managing Partner of Camber Development noted, "Both Mission of Deeds and Northeast Metro Tech are quiet champions — one for rebuilding lives experiencing domestic violence and the other for developing talent. This program wins on all fronts."

Lauren Nowicki, Chief Communications Officer at Dacon added, "Society's challenges such as homelessness necessitate rethinking social services and the role that private businesses can play in aiding state initiatives. Local nonprofits are particularly astute at targeting issues and meeting needs."

Dacon Corporation is a design build firm in Natick with a philanthropy called Designed with Dignity. For each commercial facility built, in lieu of executive gifts, a joint fund is created with the client to fund a new project with a small, local nonprofit. These organizations work at the intersection of activism and awareness, yet typically do not receive government funding. Each Designed with Dignity program is uniquely created with relevance to the client's industry and is configured to supply immediate aid and long-term improvement.

This community engagement is equally beneficial to the firms who look to network for hiring residents. Within a few years, Designed with Dignity programs have enhanced the lives of over 17,000 MA residents.

Select Board receives and approves requests

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — The Select Board held public hearings for requests to remove earth and locate a pole and received requests for the use of town spaces and authorizations during their meeting on Monday, April 8.

To begin the meeting, Chair Gary DePalma asked to hold a moment of silence for David Elliott, a longtime Wilmington employee who DePalma shared passed recently. Greg Bendel added in a moment for Kevin Stano, a WHS senior whose life was lost over the week-end.

The first public hearing of the night pertained to a request from ALRIG USA DEVELOPMENT, LLC to move earth offsite from the property at 208 Main St. Jill Elmstrom Mann shared on behalf of her client that the existing building was going to be taken down, and in its place they would build a Chase Bank and also a potential restaurant.

She also mentioned that they received conditions from the town engineer which they found reasonable.

Temporary Town Manager Lou Cimaglia noted that the Planning Board and DPW both recommended approval of this item.

Frank West asked to clarify if the Rite Aid building would be torn down and the materials being removed would come from the foundation and stormwater management, which Mann confirmed. She added that they are redesigning the shared driveway between 208 Main St. and the abutting property.

DePalma asked if the material would be hauled locally, and Mann replied that certain materials were being brought to special processing plants.

They then held a public hearing on behalf of a request by RMLD and Verizon to locate a new pole on Woburn Street. The representative for this project mentioned they wanted to provide service to a building currently under construction at 201 Lowell St.

They also clarified that the pole had not yet been put in, as the MassDOT project at the intersection of Lowell Street and Woburn Street was still underway.

The board voted in favor of both of these requests.

Regarding the request to obtain a common victualer license for 40 Fordham Road, DePalma referenced information from the Board of Health and the Building Inspector recommending the board not move forward with the request. Cimaglia clarified that the Board of Health thought the request came from K1 Speed, which has outstanding issues.

The board voted to table this motion until they hear back from the Board of Health and Building Inspector recommending approval.

Communications were received from Veterans' Services, the DPW, and National Grid. Michael Frotten of Veterans' Services wrote to the board inviting them to attend the School Committee meeting where the committee will present Warren Drew with Elmer Drew's diploma on April 10 at 7 p.m.

DPW Director Jamie Magaldi informed the board of the necessity to declare Friday, April 26 as Arbor Day as part of the Tree City USA program, and the board approved the corresponding request to do so.

National Grid Principal Specialist Mariclaire Rigby sent the board a memo about the fiscal year 2024 annual transmission vegation maintenance notification.

Requests for the use of town space which the board approved were a request from Wilmington Band Parents to sell coffee, donuts, popcorn, cold drinks, pompoms, and balloons at the Memorial Day Parade; the use of the parking lot at Silver Lake Fishing Pier for a flag retirement ceremony on June 14; and a fundraising car wash for WHS Hockey Boosters Club on Aug. 17.

They also voted in favor of ratifying the appointment of Timothy J. Woods Sr. to the RMLD Citizen Advisory Board, signing the local initiative program application for local action units on Cross Street, and signing a letter and authorizing the execution of a preservation restriction with the Massachusetts Historical Commission for 430 Salem St.

The board fielded a number of questions during public comment from a resident who wished to remain anonymous about the total amount of money from approved warrant and details of the town hall/school administration project. Kevin Cairra directed this resident to attend the meetings of the committee to ask specific questions such as whether the project will tie into sewer or septic.

In announcements, Frank West announced the Wilmington Minutemen's ceremony taking place this Saturday at 2 a.m. with live musket fire along with their dedication of a liberty pole at Rotary Park on Sunday April 28 at 1 p.m.

Greg Bendel delivered the Salute to Service to US Army veteran Paul Faro, who had recently passed and would be laid to rest in the Veterans' lot.

The board will meet next on Monday, April 22 at 7 p.m.

$3.5M project by Burlington/Woburn line slated to break ground in summer of 2026...

MassDOT unveils long-sought Cambridge Road/Bedford Road improvement plan

By PATRICK BLAIS

After more than a decade of lobbying from Burlington and Woburn officials, state transportation planners say they will finally address safety and traffic issues by the accident prone intersection of Cambridge Road and Bedford Road/South Bedford Street.

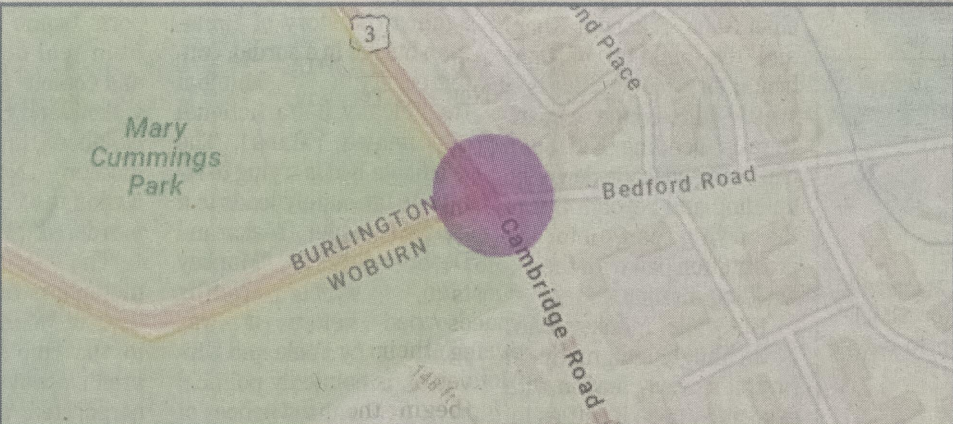

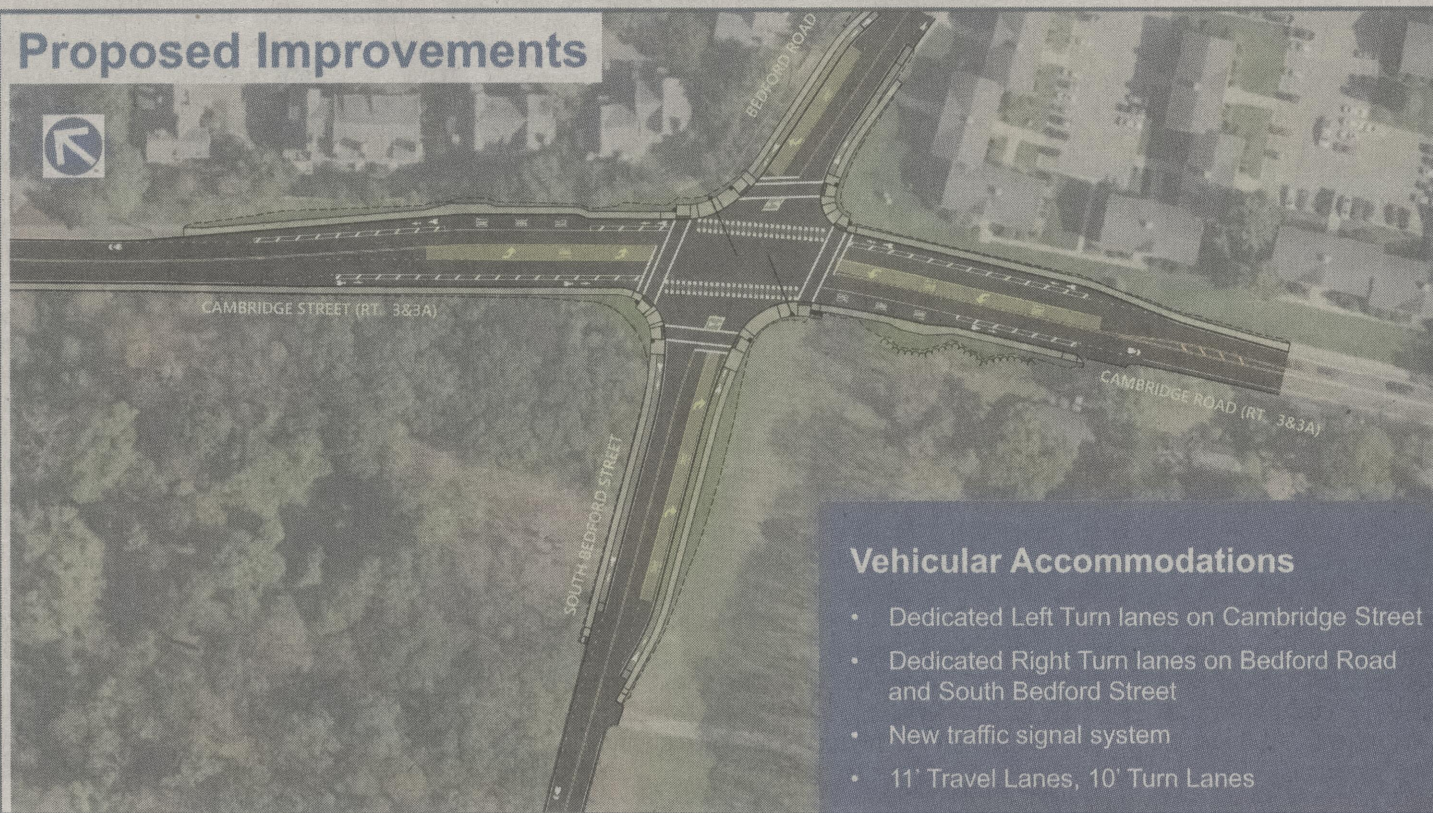

During a virtual public hearing conducted by Mass. Department of Transportation (MassDOT) late last month, state planners unveiled preliminary plans to invest some $3.5 million into the busy Route 3 intersection in Woburn's West Side by the Burlington line and the neighboring town's busy Mall Road area.

Exploring various options for fixing the four-way intersection, MassDOT representative Joseph Woo explained that three design alternatives were ultimately on the table for the project's 25 percent design phase.

Ultimately nixing a roundabout option because requiring too many takings from area landowners, the preferred design being championed by the transportation officials would entail the following:

- The reconfiguration of both the southbound and northbound approaches of Cambridge Road to include new left-hand turning lanes, a through/right hand turn lane, and foot-foot wide "buffered" bike lanes;
- The addition of both a right-hand turning lane at South Bedford Street for motorists turning onto Cambridge Road towards Burlington and a pair of five-foot wide bike lanes of either side of South Bedford Street;

• MASSDOT TO B-3

DANGEROUS INTERSECTION - State transportation planners will finally address the accident prone intersection of Cambridge Road and Bedford Road/South Bedford Street in Woburn's West Side by the Burlington line (shaded in purple in graphic at left). Above graphic shows proposed improvements including vehicle accomaodtions which should help the flow of traffic and make the intersection safer. (Courtesy Graphics)

MANIC MONKEY - Dev Patel in a scene from the film "Monkey Man" from Universal Pictures. (Akhirwan Nurhaidir/Universal Pictures via AP)

By JAKE COYLE
AP Film Writer

Has there been a more satisfying actor to watch mature on screen in recent years than Dev Patel? The endearingly earnest, scrawny kid of "Slumdog Millionaire" has steadily grown into a singularly intense and sensitive leading man. It's a transformation that, for anyone who missed "Lion," "The Personal History of David Copperfield" or "The Green Knight," may be especially jarring in watching Patel's new film, "Monkey Man."

Like "Slumdog Millionaire," the film is set in Mumbai and has a touch of fable to it. But in tone and texture, it could hardly be more different. Bathed in blood and fury, "Monkey Man" is one gory coming out party for Patel, who also directed and co-wrote the film. He kicks so much butt in this movie — at one point he punches a punch — that it's enough to make you wonder if the search for the new James Bond ought to be redirected.

"Monkey Man," produced by Jordan Peele, is aiming for something grittier, though — more in Bruce Lee territory or the neighborhood of Park Chan-wook's "Oldboy" — wild, kinetic places to be where martial-arts action turns mythic and feverish. At its best moments, "Monkey Man" does that tradition justice. But at all its moments, the movie is a convincing display of Patel's still-expanding power and tenacity as a performer.

"Monkey Man" is most explosive in its blistering first half-hour. Patel's character, credited only as Kid, fights while wearing a gorilla mask in an underground boxing ring. Our first image of him is of his head, in that mask, hitting the canvas hard.

These scenes, presided over by Sharlto Copley's ring leader, have a masochist edge to them, as does Kid's corresponding efforts to get closer to a den of power and corruption housed in the high-rise King's Club. We don't know initially the reasons for his obsession; he's a mysterious, single-minded figure compelled by hellbent revenge.

And we watch with curiosity as he works his way into the building as a dishwasher hired by manager Queenie (Ashwini Kalsekar) and, soon thereafter, gains a promotion to waiter to get himself up to the penthouse. His focus is on the police chief Rana (Sikandar Kher) and the build-up to their brutal first encounter is a swiftly edited, kinetic swirl. It fails, sending Kid on a clattering cascade down the building and beyond. Out of the frying pan, into the prostitution den with the ax-wielding maniac.

But while "Monkey Man" is thrillingly enigmatic at first, it's overly leaden with exposition once it settles in. To its credit, the movie has other things on its mind. It

National Prescription Drug Take Back Day will be held in Wakefield on Sat., April 27

On Saturday, April 27, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., the Wakefield Police Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration will host the DEA's National Prescription Drug Take Back Day at Wakefield's Public Safety Building (1 Union Street). At this event, the community can bring tablets, capsules, patches, and other solid forms of prescription drugs for safe disposal.

For more than a decade, the event has helped Americans easily rid their homes of unneeded medications—those that are unwanted or expired—that too often become a gateway to addiction. Take Back Day offers free and anonymous disposal of unneeded medications at close to 5,000 local drop-off locations nationwide. In partnership with local law enforcement, Take Back Day has removed 8,950 tons of medication from circulation since its inception.

Collection sites will not accept syringes, sharps, and illicit drugs. Liquid products, such as cough syrup, should remain sealed in their original containers. The cap must be tightly sealed to prevent leaks. For more information, or to find additional collection sites near you, visit www.DEATakeBack.com.

MASSDOT FROM B1

• The addition of two “separated” bike lanes on Bedford Road, where a right-hand turning lane will be added for motorists turning onto Cambridge Road towards Woburn;

• The construction of new five-foot wide sidewalks heading towards each leg of the intersection and the addition of ADA-compliant curb ramps and crosswalks;

• The construction of new ADA-complaint stops (with room for buses to pull out of the main travel lanes) for the MBTA’s 354 and 350 bus routes;

• And the addition of a new signalization equipment that can respond to real-time traffic conditions.

According to Yoo and MassDOT Right-of-Way agent Michael Ruderman, state officials hope to get into the 75 percent design phase later this summer, when area landowners can expect to be notified about whether easement rights or other land takings will be required.

Assuming that notification process and a separate environmental permitting phase goes as planned, construction would begin sometime in the summer of 2026.

“In summary, the goals of this project are three-fold. Firstly, [we want] to enhance the safety of the intersection. Secondly, [the goal is to] improve vehicle operations and thirdly, to integrate all roadway users,” said Yoo.

“The right-of-way [division] is responsible for acquiring all the necessary rights to public land for what we need to do for this project. The most important part of this [presentation to be aware of] is if your property is going to be effected, particularly by any taking, we’ll reach out to you,” Ruderman later remarked. “We won’t know for sure until we’ve developed our plans a little more.”

During the public hearing, a variety of public officials and civic leaders, including Woburn Mayor Michael Concannon and Burlington Chamber of Commerce President Rick Parker, praised MassDOT for finally advancing an improvement plan for the often traffic-gridlocked crosspoints. “

“I really just wanted to make a comment expressing total support of the project. This is a long-time coming. It’s a key priority for the City of Woburn and we do appreciate getting to this point,” said Woburn’s mayor.

“This has been a major pinch point from Burlington for a long time into one of our major commercial sectors,” Parker later said. “The Burlington area Chamber of Commerce is happy to provide any letters of support or anything that could help you move this project forward as quickly as possible.”

High-crash location

As confirmed by MassDOT officials last month, the Cambridge Road and Bedford Road/South Bedford Street intersection has long been deemed dangerous by officials in Woburn and Burlington, who have been trying to convince the state to do something about the problems since at least 2014.

Specifically, about a decade ago, engineers from BETA Group Inc. released a road safety audit to identify specific safety issues by the intersection after MassDOT’s highway division identified the crossroads as a “high-crash” location.

According to the final report, Woburn Police responded to 36 crashes in the area between 2011 and 2013, when more than half of all accidents were so-called “angle” collisions involving turning vehicles. Yoo during last month’s hearing added that between 2018 and 2021, another 21 crashes were recorded at the intersection.

In fact, according to Woburn State Rep. Richard Haggerty, a former City Council president who lives in the area, he considers the Burlington area crossroads especially dangerous.

“I know many people over the past decade have made this a priority in the city. I grew up in the area and still live a half-mile from this site, so I drive it often. In my view, it’s the most dangerous intersection in the city, so to see these types of improvements taking place is a step in the right direction,” said the state rep., who promised to lend the transportation planning team any assistance it needed.

State and local officials have ultimately concluded that some of the problems with the four-way intersection stem from the Cambridge Road approach, where drivers branch out into two lanes. Because the road itself is a one-lane design in either direction, motorists moving over to take a left-hand turn often encroach into the opposite travel lane to leave room for other drivers to pass on the right.

The road safety audit also noted other issues are caused by the geometric alignment of Bedford Road and South Bedford Street, which meets Cambridge Road at offset angles.

“The intersection is a four-way intersection under traffic signal control. Cambridge Road is marked as a shared lane in each direction, although it was noted that southbound drivers attempt to create a two-lane approach,” Beta Group officials reported. “Drivers in both directions on Cambridge Road waiting to make a left turn are known to encroach over the double-yellow line in order to leave more room for a through vehicle to pass.”

“Bedford Road and South Bedford Street also provide single lane approaches at the intersection. The two side streets are slightly offset from one another, which can create confusion between opposing turning vehicles,” the study authors added. “It should be noted that the traffic signal provides simple two-phased operation, and there are no protected phases for left turns.”

Burlington and Woburn officials, as well as state transportation planners have also pointed out traffic congestion during peak hours may contribute to high crash rates as frustrated drivers “take chances [on turning through] unacceptable gaps.”

During the recent public hearing on the proposed $3.5 million redesign, area abutters questioned whether the project goes far enough in addressing difficult turning movements for motorists on Bedford Road and South Bedford Street. Specifically, those members of the public suggested that the design team consider traffic signal phasing improvements that could help commuters take a left-hand turn.

“Why are right-turn storage lanes needed when [motorists can easily take a light when the light changes] but South Bedford Street traffic can’t turn left during the straight phase?” asked area resident Christopher Sylvia.

Though MassDOT officials did say they would look at the new traffic signal’s phasing, Amy Silbovitz, the lead traffic engineer for the project, surmised that the right-hand turning movements would indirectly help motorists looking to take left-hand turns onto Cambridge Road from both Bedford Road and South Bedford Street by partially clearing out the queue of vehicles waiting behind such motorists.

“We’re adding left turn lanes to Cambridge Road and those turns will be protected movements [because the traffic signal will be equipped with a turning-only phase],” explained Silbovitz. “When those left-turn happens, we can also run right-hand turns. That’s what we call overlap.”

“That will clear out the queue faster on South Bedford so the people going through and taking a left will have an easier time,” the traffic engineer added.

PROPOSED LANE CONFIGURATIONS – MassDOT will provide notifications to the public on anticipated traffic impacts during the implementation of the Cambridge Road/Bedford Road improvement plan. Construction notifications will be coordinated with the City of Woburn and the Town of Burlington. There will be daily lane shifts throughout construction. One lane of traffic in both directions will be maintained at all times during peak travel times. There are no planned detours. Access will be maintained to abutting homes and businesses. Ongoing information will be posted on the town’s websites. (Courtesy Graphics)

Boston Marathon 2024:

Lively returning with a friend in mind

Wilmington resident raising money for American Heart Association

By JASON COOKE
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

Nancy Lively didn't think she would run a marathon ever again.

After completing her 20th 26.2-mile trek in the spring of 2015, the lifelong runner was ready to turn in her sneakers, where she's since remained dormant in marathon retirement for nine years.

"I certainly had a feeling it was going to be my last," said Lively, 58. "I've been a runner for well over 35 years. I figured number 20 could be a good one to be my swan song."

However, the Wilmington resident is returning to the course on Monday. But this time, she isn't just running the Boston Marathon for herself. Lively has made it her mission to cross the finish line on Boylston Street in memory of her late friend, Bernard Tabary.

"I am running for those that cannot," said Lively. "And he is at the top of that list."

Lively has worked at a commuter rail company called Keolis as a locomotive planner in the mechanical department for more than 20 years, where she became close acquaintances with Tabary, the former international CEO.

They shared their love for running — and dark chocolate — since meeting in 2015.

It wasn't until March 2023 that Lively received a phone call she'll never forget. Tabary had passed away after suffering a heart attack while training for the Paris Marathon.

That's when Lively had her calling to break out her marathon sneakers that had collected nine years worth of dust.

"I am running the (2024) Boston Marathon next year in Bernard's memory, no matter what it takes," she recalled telling a coworker.

So, Lively joined Team Keolis for the 2024 Boston Marathon, supporting Tabary and the American Heart Association en route to more than $21,000 of donations.

Lively — a certified marathon coach — captained a team of four other runners, who have all been training and raising funds to prepare for April's race.

"I'm blessed by my donors, and I'm extremely proud of my team," she said. "We've worked really hard. Some have run a couple of marathons, and some have never run a marathon. It's always a pipe dream to run Boston, but these four individuals were chosen for a specific reason."

Lively's training for her 21st marathon has been far from easy.

Just two months before her 20th race in 2015, she tore a calf muscle during a 20-mile run that sidelined her until the day of the race. Although she crossed the finish line that day, she did so while re-tearing the muscle on the fifth mile and breaking several metatarsals. Training for her 21st rodeo has been far from easy.

"Bernard will be with me every mile," Lively said. "He'll be with all five of us every mile."

He's carried me through this whole training season, and it's been very challenging for a variety of reasons.

"I am the strongest I've ever been heading into a marathon in probably 25 years," she said. "I am strong emotionally and mentally, and that is overtaking the physical challenges that I've endured."

Lively has also felt the support from her family and friends.

"The support that I've received from my husband, my friends, my family, and the residents and community of Wilmington has been overwhelming," she said.

Lively also has something to prove to herself.

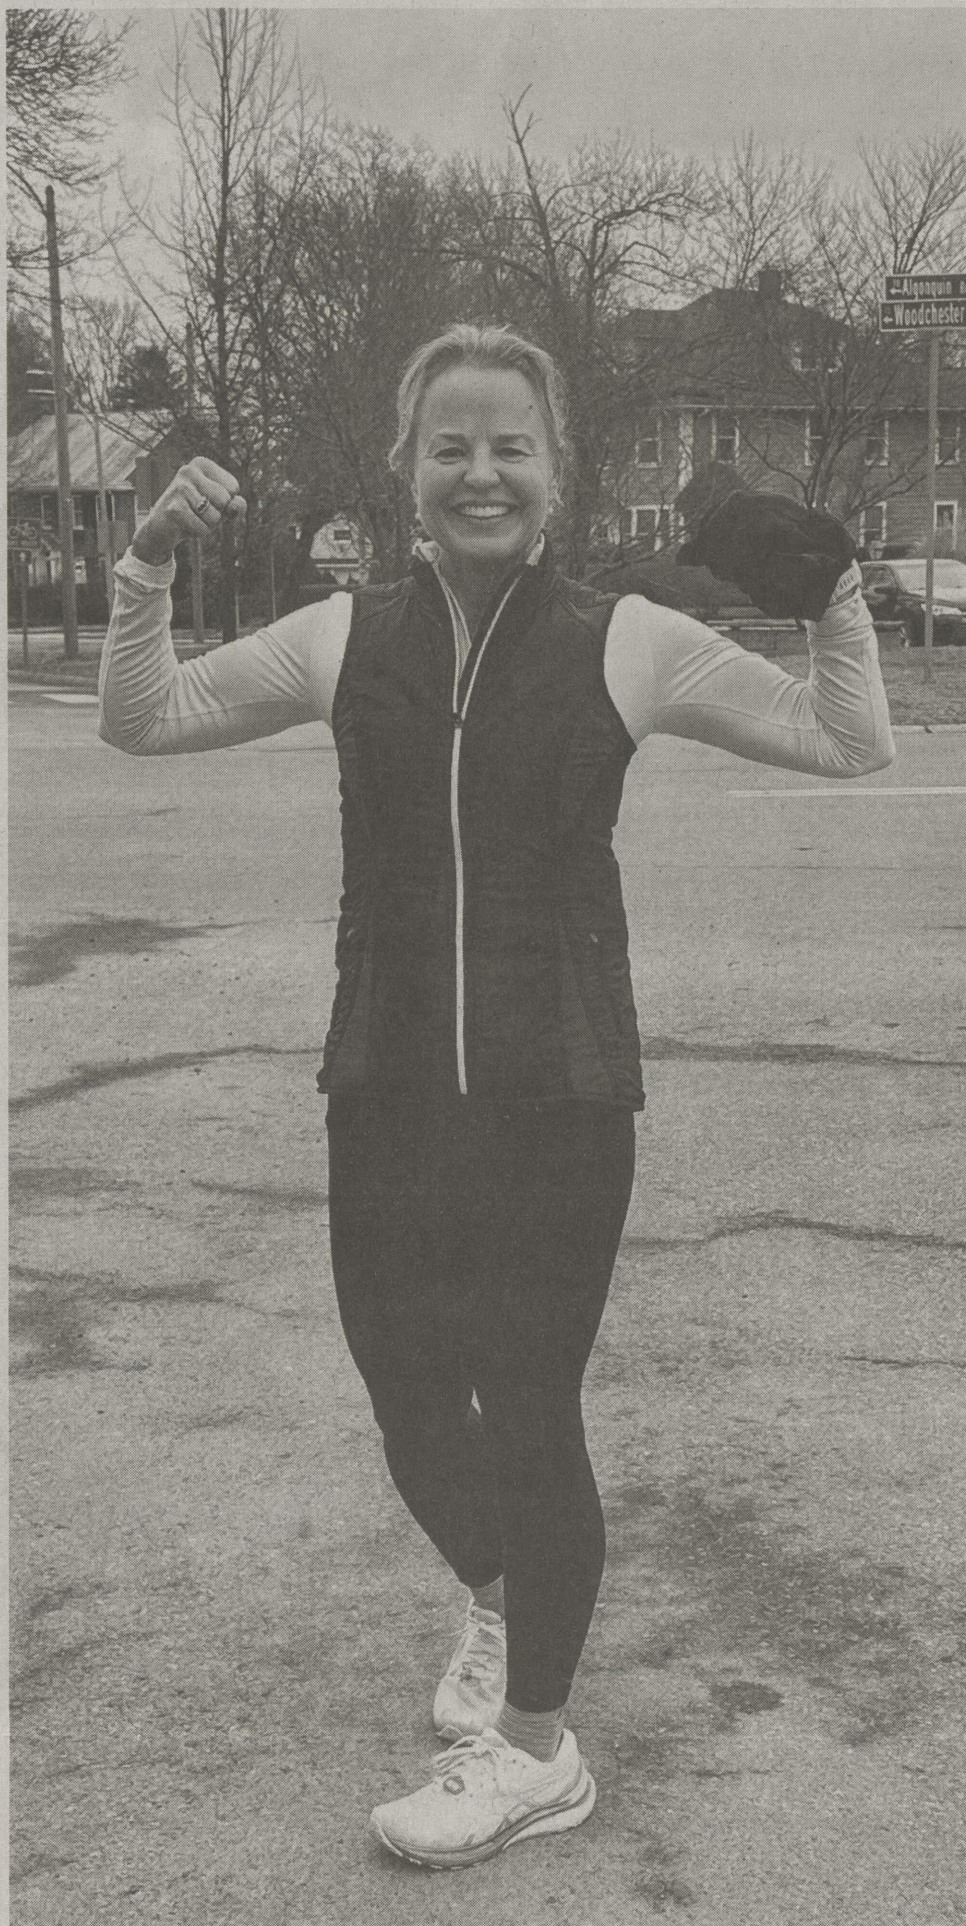

Not only is she striving to support her friend and the great cause associated with it, she is on a mission to prove that she can return to the big race.

"Being able to cross the finish line will be a dream in terms of telling those and proving to those that I can," she said. "That I can still run and that I am capable of running 26.2 miles. And because we're running for the American Heart Association, our efforts are saving lives. It provides me the ability to do something when outside forces may say you shouldn't do this anymore. I can, and I am."

Lively knows every mile in the 26.2-mile haul will not come without its struggle. But she also knows she won't be alone.

"I wish that Bernard could be there to watch us and cheer us on, but he is," Lively concluded. "He's in my heart every day."

Wilmington High lacrosse roundup:

Boys fall to Winchester

Girls topped by Lynnfield

By JASON COOKE
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

WILMINGTON — The Wilmington High School boys lacrosse team ran into a skilled Winchester squad in its season opener last Tuesday, falling 13-3 at Alumni Field.

Michael Lawler, Charlie Rooney and Colin Allard found the back of the net in the effort.

"It didn't go the way we wanted it to, but our guys played hard from start to finish," said first-year coach John Fortes. "We made too many mistakes, but I am confident that we will learn and grow from this one and put it behind us."

The Wildcats will look for redemption this week in matchups against Tewksbury (Tuesday), Lexington (Wednesday), and Shawshen Tech (Friday).

GIRLS STILL WORKING HARD

The Wilmington High School girls lacrosse team had all the momentum.

The Wildcats trailed by just two goals with under six minutes to play in the third quarter, responding to a 6-1 run that had the Pioneers comfortably in the driver's seat.

That's when disaster struck.

The Wildcats committed a slew of three infractions, yielding a lengthy seven-on-four opportunity for Lynnfield that sparked an offensive rampage of seven unanswered goals at Alumni Field on Monday night.

The 'Cats couldn't catch up in an 18-9 defeat that put coach Chris Frissore's squad at 1-3.

"We were fine the whole game, and then it was three in a row," Frissore said of the costly penalties. "We talk about stick checking and not swinging the stick and just moving your feet. It happens."

The Wilmington offense did produce a pair of hat tricks, however, as Jill Collins and Leah Murphy headlined the attack.

"We've known she was going to be a stud," Frissore said of Murphy. "She's really good at lacrosse, and she's been playing forever. She's going to score a lot of goals for us and she's done a great job."

(James Thomas Photography)

Maddie Sainato, Gabby Kulevich and Cate MacDonald rounded out the scoring in front of an impressive 16-save performance from Abby Driscoll between the pipes.

"She played really well today," Frissore said of Driscoll. "She was keeping us in it for a while."

Abby did a good job. It's tough when you look up and see 18 (on the scoreboard), but we played man-down a whole half, it's going to happen."

It was back-and-forth action straight from the get-go, as both teams traded goals in the first quarter, knotting the contest at three.

Sainato started the sequence at the 10:49 mark, firing a shot from the crease before MacDonald and Kulevich found twine in the period.

Driscoll kept the 'Cats alive, stopping seven shots in the frame.

The second quarter was a much different story.

The Lynnfield offense got hot, scoring five straight goals in just over six minutes to take a convincing 8-3 lead. After Collins and Murphy potted their first of the evening in between another Lynnfield score, the Wildcats eyed a 9-5 deficit at halftime.

It wasn't ideal, but Frissore and his squad had life.

Collins and Murphy continued to strike in the third period, working the score down to 10-8 with 6:14 left on the clock. Wilmington had its opponent right where they wanted them — until they didn't.

After killing off a minute of a seven-on-five opportunity for Lynnfield, the 'Cats took another penalty. The Pioneers made easy work of the three-player advantage, scoring four unanswered goals in the quarter that put Wilmington on the ropes.

"We weren't covering the cutters very well," said Frissore.

Lynnfield continued its run with four more goals in the final quarter, as Collins scored a goal with 1:18 left in the matchup. Lynnfield outshot Wilmington by a 33-17 margin.

While Frissore commends his team's effort for fighting the whole way through, it's all about keeping the games close until the end. If the 'Cats can do that, the third-year coach thinks they can succeed.

"Last year, we had about six games where we lost by a goal," he said. "So those games, we're trying to get over the hump. That's what we did in the first game against Tewksbury, and I was hoping that's what it would be coming down the stretch (today) until we played man down. We were coming back, and we were fighting."

Wilmington meets Lexington (Wednesday) and Wakefield (Thursday) this week.

The Shawsheen Tech
baseball team sure did find a memorable way to earn victory No. 1 on the season.

Down 4-1 after two innings, Shawsheen scored once in the fourth inning and twice more in the fifth to keep within striking distance before eventually beating Dracut in the bottom of the seventh inning, 6-5.

In the seventh, Shaw-sheen trailed 5-4 before senior Brody Amenkovicz smacked an RBI single to tie the game and junior Will Holloway of Tewks-bury knocked in the game-winning run.

Senior Brendan Lee of Billerica earned the victory on the mound with four innings of solid relief, allowing just one run. Jupitched a scoreless first inning before running into problems in the second as the Middies scored four times.

Holloway had three hits

for Shawsheen while junior Robbie Welch of Tewks-bury scored three runs.
Welch drew a one-out walk in the first inning and alertly tagged up and moved to second when junior Nate Galanis' foul ball to the catcher was caught by a diving Middle backstop.

Moments later, Welch went to third on a passed ball and scored on a throwing error.

Junior Ryan Jamieson of Billerica also contributed a hit and an RBI for Shawsheen.

Shawsheen (1-1) started the season with a 4-0 loss against Saugus.

Sophomore Will Trach of Wilmington started on the mound for the Rams and was solid, throwing four innings, striking out eight and allowing just one run.

Offensively, Trach contributed a double in the fifth while Jamieson also had a hit.

cruised to a 19-0 win to improve to 2-0 on the season.

Caceres and Tildsley compete at nationals

Tildsley is All-America after a fifth-place performance

By DOUG HASTINGS
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

Senior Caleb Caceres and junior Sid Tildsley of Shawsheen Tech attended the high school nationals in Virginia Beach from April 4 to April 6.

Caceres went 1-2 in his weight class, defeating a wrestler from New Hampshire and wrapping up a memorable career in style.

Tildsley had a big weekend in his 132-pound division.

Tildsley went 7-2 overall and placed fifth among 178 athletes from around the country in his bracket.

The fifth-place finish makes Tildsley an All-America wrestler for the third time.

Tildsley pinned his first three opponents from New York, North Carolina, and Delaware.

He finished Day 1 with a 4-0 record with a 17-5 major decision over an Arizona state finalist. On Day 2 in the quarterfinals, he missed a great chance at his patented headlock from the Granby roll but fell short to a three-time Tennessee state champ and eventual finalist.

In the consolation round
he shutout a New Jersey opponent by a 3-0 score.

Tildsley then earned a 13-4 victory and advanced to the consolation semifinals.

In the semis, Tildsley lost a 3-2 thriller to a Florida wrestler.

In the fifth-place match,
Tildsley's Ohio opponent
did not wrestle.

Tildsley's fifth-place finish earned him his third consecutive trip to the national podium in Virginia Beach. His career record is 18-5 in the high school national competition.
